Continuing education on my part has also contributed to my education and will continue to do so."

"One can lead through words, but our children are led by actions."

"The experience of being a tutor has helped me form my long-term goals."

On April 4, 2007, I was appointed by Gov. Schweitzer to the position of Higher Education. I have had the honor and responsibility to motivate its members to take to heart that pledge they took during their presidency and to do all they can to help the organization continue to grow and prosper.

"SBD Excellence"

"It's only in the finest moments of our lives, when we are experiencing a victory or loss, that we realize the true value and worth that each of us has—as an individual, as a member of our society, and as a part of the fabric of our culture."

"The installation of this 300th chapter also brings to my mind the idea that Sigma Beta Delta is not just an honor society for our business students. That constant reminder to our students, our leaders, and our future to live their lives in a way that will benefit others."

"Crossing the 300th Chapter Threshold"
To all who worked together in building Sigma Beta Delta, a gigantic “Thank you” is hereby tendered. Happily, many of those board members have maintained a strong interest and pride has continued in each of the 46,917 that would follow.

One of the first phases of Sigma Beta Delta is to recruit and organize classes. From our first chapter in the spring of 1964 at Bellmont University in Nashville, Tennessee, we have since grown.

During the past thirty years, we have recognized approximately 47,000 individuals who represent the best and the brightest of those pursuing higher education. The Sigma Beta Delta scholastic honor societies bring together a unique combination of young men and women who are academically outstanding and who are also outstanding in their personal and social responsibilities. These students who never would have received a scholarship become candidates for national recognition if Sigma Beta Delta had not been for Sigma Beta Delta.

I did not realize the impact of what we were doing that evening in Nashville. I recall being on stage with the largest audience I had ever addressed, with many prominent people displayed as well as warm and friendly surroundings. On that occasion, the pride continued in each of the 46,917 that would follow.

We see, therefore, that it is appropriate for us to give thanks to our founding Board of Directors who included Dr. James Bearden, President; Dr. Clifford Enlow, Vice President; Dr. Donald Donaldson, Secretary; Treasurer; Mr. James Wehrly, Manager; Managing Director; Dr. Ronald Lewis, Director; Dr. Quin Curley, Director; and Dr. Richard Scott.

Happily, many of those board members have maintained a strong interest and pride has continued in each of the 46,917 that would follow.

Tonight I was quite pleased. I’m a student who
College of the Ozarks teaches you through a combination of academic endeavor and hard work, trains you to think beyond just a frame of knowledge, teaches you honor and doing things with integrity and appreciation. Nothing but the best from you! The College is meeting the yard, enrolling up working in an office and then graduating and going to a great college Sigma Beta Delta. Sigma Beta Delta is so far, wisdom, honor and appreciation—it’s a perfect match.

Dr. Gary Holcomb, Professor

It was very humbling to hear that we are working to begin things through education. It is very humbling for the hard core students. They work and they work and they have a long list of things that honor society membership contains. In honor of those students and young people, our society is a place for them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world.

Dr. Marvin Grass, Dean of the College

We also congratulate the officers here, and the students who are here. They are all doing things well. They are all doing things well. They are all doing things well.

David Jones, Student

I'm very happy that we have managed to develop a chapter here. Our College of the Ozarks teaches you through a combination of academic endeavor and hard work, trains you to think beyond just a frame of knowledge, teaches you honor and doing things with integrity and appreciation. Nothing but the best from you! The College is meeting the yard, enrolling up working in an office and then graduating and going to a great college Sigma Beta Delta. Sigma Beta Delta is so far, wisdom, honor and appreciation—it’s a perfect match.

Dr. Gary Holcomb, Professor

It was very humbling to hear that we are working to begin things through education. It is very humbling for the hard core students. They work and they work and they have a long list of things that honor society membership contains. In honor of those students and young people, our society is a place for them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world.

Dr. Marvin Grass, Dean of the College

We also congratulate the officers here, and the students who are here. They are all doing things well. They are all doing things well. They are all doing things well.

David Jones, Student

I'm very happy that we have managed to develop a chapter here. Our College of the Ozarks teaches you through a combination of academic endeavor and hard work, trains you to think beyond just a frame of knowledge, teaches you honor and doing things with integrity and appreciation. Nothing but the best from you! The College is meeting the yard, enrolling up working in an office and then graduating and going to a great college Sigma Beta Delta. Sigma Beta Delta is so far, wisdom, honor and appreciation—it’s a perfect match.

Dr. Gary Holcomb, Professor

It was very humbling to hear that we are working to begin things through education. It is very humbling for the hard core students. They work and they work and they have a long list of things that honor society membership contains. In honor of those students and young people, our society is a place for them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world.

Dr. Marvin Grass, Dean of the College

We also congratulate the officers here, and the students who are here. They are all doing things well. They are all doing things well. They are all doing things well.

David Jones, Student

I'm very happy that we have managed to develop a chapter here. Our College of the Ozarks teaches you through a combination of academic endeavor and hard work, trains you to think beyond just a frame of knowledge, teaches you honor and doing things with integrity and appreciation. Nothing but the best from you! The College is meeting the yard, enrolling up working in an office and then graduating and going to a great college Sigma Beta Delta. Sigma Beta Delta is so far, wisdom, honor and appreciation—it’s a perfect match.

Dr. Gary Holcomb, Professor

It was very humbling to hear that we are working to begin things through education. It is very humbling for the hard core students. They work and they work and they have a long list of things that honor society membership contains. In honor of those students and young people, our society is a place for them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world. We teach morals and ethics, and the standards we want them to carry forward from here and represent us all over the world.